The Kuga looks bold and intimidating and is marked by sharp lines all through its body. The engine that will make most sense for India will be a 2-litre TDCi engine that breathes through four valves per cylinder and produces a healthy 136PS and 320Nm of turning force. This 4-pot turbo engine sees the Kuga reach 100 clicks in less than 11 seconds while the top whack should be a shade less than 200kmph. The all-wheel drive system will ensure that it is capable enough to handle the rough with aplomb, like the Endeavour. The Kuga could undercut the 20 lakh mark by a fair margin.

There are no confirmed news about the expected launch date of Ford Kuga in India however it is expected to be launched in July 2011 with an estimated price tag of 16-20 lakhs.

This c+ segment car which comes in both petrol and diesel variants is expected to come to India in July 2011. Ford has included their latest duratec engine in this vehicle. Ford

Kuga's main competitors will be SUVs like Ford Endeavour, Chevrolet Captiva, Suzuki Grand Vitara and Toyota Fortuner. Ford Kuga's models coming to India may have 4 cylinder engines which deliver a max power of 200 Bhp at 6000 rpm and a Maximum Torque of 320 Nm at 1600 rpm.

Ford Kuga comes with most of the safety features and luxuries which are limited to its price range but Ford has kept their "value for money" policy in this machine also. Ford India is planning to sell Kuga through their wide-spread dealer network all over India.
